FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

RAYMOND FOX, individually and on behalf of similarly situated persons,

Plaintiff,

v.

JVP, INC. D/B/A DOMINO'S PIZZA, INC. and JAY M. WARREN,

Defendants.

Case No. _____

Jury Demanded

Complaint – Class Action

COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT OF 1938 AND PENNSYLVANIA WAGE PAYMENT AND COLLECTION LAW, AND UNJUST ENRICHMENT/QUANTUM MERUIT

Plaintiff Raymond Fox (“Plaintiff”), individually and on behalf of all other similarly situated delivery drivers, brings this Complaint against Defendants JVP, Inc. d/b/a Domino’s Pizza, Inc. and Jay M. Warren, and alleges as follows:

1. Defendants operate numerous Domino’s Pizza franchise stores. Defendants employ delivery drivers who use their own automobiles to deliver pizza and other food items to their customers. However, instead of reimbursing delivery drivers for the reasonably approximate costs of the business use of their vehicles, Defendants use a flawed method to determine reimbursement rates that provides such an unreasonably low rate beneath any reasonable approximation of the expenses they incur that the drivers’ unreimbursed expenses cause their wages to fall below the federal minimum wage during some or all workweeks.

2. Plaintiff brings this lawsuit as a collective action under the Fair Labor Standards Act (“FLSA”), 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq., a class action under Pennsylvania Annotated Statute §§260.1, et seq., and common law to recover unpaid minimum wages owed to himself and similarly situated delivery drivers employed by Defendants at their Domino's stores.

Jurisdiction and Venue

3. The FLSA authorizes court actions by private parties to recover damages for violation of its wage and hour provisions. Jurisdiction over Plaintiff's FLSA claim is based on 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) and 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question).

4. Venue in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because Defendant's principal place of business is in this District, Plaintiff resides within the District, and the events giving rise to this lawsuit occurred within the District.

Parties

5. Defendant, JVP, Inc. is a Pennsylvania Limited Liability Company maintaining its principal place of business within this District. Defendant JVP, Inc. may be served via its registered agent Jay M. Warren, who may be served at 1012 Baltimore St, Hanover, PA 17331, or wherever he may be found.

6. Defendant, Jay M. Warren, is individually liable because, during the relevant times, he was an owner of substantial interests in Defendant JVP, Inc., served as officer of the entity, and held managerial responsibilities and substantial control over terms and conditions of drivers' work as he held the power to hire and fire, supervised and controlled work schedules and/or conditions of employment, determined rates and methods of pay and/or expense reimbursements, and maintained employment records and/or held control over employment records. Defendant Warren may be served at 1012 Baltimore St., Hanover, PA 17331, or wherever he may be found.

7. Plaintiff was employed by Defendants from 2014 to 2016 as a delivery driver at Defendants' Domino's stores located in Hanover, Pennsylvania. Plaintiff's consent to pursue this claim under the FLSA is attached to this Original Complaint as “Exhibit 1.”

General Allegations

Defendants’ Business

8. Defendants own and operate numerous Domino’s franchise stores including stores within this District and this Division.

9. Jay M. Warren is the director of corporate Defendant JVP, Inc.

10. In this capacity, Jay M. Warren put the pay scheme at issue in place, has overseen and enforced Defendants’ pay practices, and is, therefore, individually liable for the violations at issue.

11. Defendants’ Domino’s stores employ delivery drivers who all have the same primary job duty: to deliver pizzas and other food items to customers’ homes or workplaces.

Defendants’ Flawed Automobile Reimbursement Policy

12. Defendants require their delivery drivers to maintain and pay for safe, legally-operable, and insured automobiles when delivering pizza and other food items.

13. Defendants’ delivery drivers incur costs for gasoline, vehicle parts and fluids, repair and maintenance services, insurance, depreciation, and other expenses (“automobile expenses”) while delivering pizza and other food items for the primary benefit of Defendants.

14. Defendants’ delivery driver reimbursement policy reimburses drivers on a per-delivery basis, but the per-delivery reimbursement equates to below the IRS business mileage reimbursement rate or any other reasonable approximation of the cost to own and operate a motor vehicle. This policy applies to all of Defendants’ delivery drivers.

15. The result of Defendants’ delivery driver reimbursement policy is a reimbursement of much less than a reasonable approximation of its drivers’ automobile expenses.

16. During the applicable FLSA limitations period, the IRS business mileage reimbursement rate ranged between $.54 and $.575 per mile. Likewise, reputable companies that study the cost of owning and operating a motor vehicle and/or reasonable reimbursement rates, including the AAA, have determined that the average cost of owning and operating a vehicle ranged between $.571 and $.608 per mile during the same period for drivers who drive 15,000 miles per year. These figures represent a reasonable approximation of the average cost of owning and operating a vehicle for use in delivering pizzas.

17. However, the driving conditions associated with the pizza delivery business cause even more frequent maintenance costs, higher costs due to repairs associated with driving, and more rapid depreciation from driving as much as, and in the manner of, a delivery driver. Defendants' delivery drivers further experience lower gas mileage and higher repair costs than the average driver used to determine the average cost of owning and operating a vehicle described above due to the nature of the delivery business, including frequent starting and stopping of the engine, frequent braking, short routes as opposed to highway driving, and driving under time pressures.

18. Defendants' reimbursement policy does not reimburse delivery drivers for even their ongoing out-of-pocket expenses, much less other costs they incur to own and operate their vehicle, and thus Defendants uniformly failed to reimburse its delivery drivers at any reasonable approximation of the cost of owning and operating their vehicles for Defendants' benefit.

19. Defendants' systematic failure to adequately reimburse automobile expenses constitutes a "kickback" to Defendants such that the hourly wages it pays to Plaintiff and Defendants' other delivery drivers are not paid free and clear of all outstanding obligations to Defendants.

20. Defendants fail to reasonably approximate the amount of their drivers' automobile expenses to such an extent that its drivers' net wages are diminished beneath the federal minimum wage requirements.

21. In sum, Defendants' reimbursement policy and methodology fail to reflect the realities of delivery drivers' automobile expenses.

Defendants' Failure to Reasonably Reimburse Automobile Expenses Causes Minimum Wage Violations

22. Regardless of the precise amount of the per-delivery reimbursement at any given point in time, Defendants' reimbursement formula has resulted in an unreasonable underestimation of delivery drivers' automobile expenses throughout the recovery period, causing systematic violations of the federal minimum wage.

23. Plaintiff was paid $5.50 per hour while driving and out for deliveries during his employment with Defendants, including a tip credit applicable to the time he performed deliveries, and $7.50 while in the store.

24. The federal minimum wage has been $7.25 per hour since July 24, 2009.

25. During the time Plaintiff worked for Defendants as a delivery driver, he was reimbursed just $.10 per mile, and on average drove 4-6 miles per delivery.

26. During the relevant time period, the IRS business mileage reimbursement rate ranged between $.54 and $.575 per mile, which reasonably approximated the automobile expenses incurred delivering pizzas. <http://www.irs.gov/Tax-Professionals/Standard-Mileage-Rates>. Using the lowest IRS rate and the highest rate per mile, Plaintiff was making per mile driven ($.10 per mile) in effect during that period as a reasonable approximation of Plaintiff's automobile expenses, every mile driven on the job decreased his net wages by at least $.44 ($.54 - $.10) per mile.

27. During his employment by Defendants, Plaintiff regularly made 3 or more deliveries per hour. Thus using even a conservative under-estimate of Plaintiff's actual expenses and damages, every hour on the job decreased Plaintiff's net wages by at least $1.32 ($.44 x 3 deliveries).

28. All of Defendants' delivery drivers had similar experiences to those of Plaintiff. They were subject to the same reimbursement policy; received similar reimbursements; incurred similar automobile expenses; completed deliveries of similar distances and at similar frequencies; and were paid at or near the federal minimum wage before deducting unreimbursed business expenses.

29. Because Defendants paid their drivers a gross hourly wage at precisely, or at least very close to, the federal minimum wage, and because the delivery drivers incurred unreimbursed automobile expenses, the delivery drivers "kicked back" to Defendants an amount sufficient to cause minimum wage violations.

30. While the amount of Defendants' actual reimbursements per delivery may vary over time, Defendants are relying on the same flawed policy and methodology with respect to all delivery drivers at all of their other Domino's stores. Thus, although reimbursement amounts may differ somewhat by time or region, the amounts of under-reimbursements relative to automobile costs incurred are relatively consistent between time and region.

31. Defendants' low reimbursement rates were a frequent complaint of Defendants' delivery drivers, which resulted in discussions with management, yet Defendants continued to reimburse at a rate much less than any reasonable approximation of delivery drivers' automobile expenses.

32. The net effect of Defendants' flawed reimbursement policy is that Defendants have willfully failed to pay the federal minimum wage to their delivery drivers. Defendants thereby enjoys ill-gained profits at the expense of its employees.

Class and Collective Action Allegations

33. Plaintiff brings this FLSA claim as an “opt-in” collective action on behalf of similarly situated delivery drivers pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

34. The FLSA claims may be pursued by those who opt-in to this case pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

35. Plaintiff, individually and on behalf of other similarly situated employees, seeks relief on a collective basis challenging Defendants’ practice of failing to pay employees federal minimum wage. The number and identity of other plaintiffs yet to opt-in may be ascertained from Defendants’ records, and potential class members may be notified of the pendency of this action via mail and electronic means.

36. Plaintiff and all of Defendants’ delivery drivers are similarly situated in that:

a. They have worked as delivery drivers for Defendants delivering pizza and other food items to Defendants’ customers;

b. They have delivered pizza and food items using automobiles not owned or maintained by Defendants;

c. Defendants required them to maintain these automobiles in a safe, legally-operable, and insured condition;

d. They incurred costs for automobile expenses while delivering pizzas and food items for the primary benefit of Defendants;

e. They were subject to similar driving conditions, automobile expenses, delivery distances, and delivery frequencies;

- f. They were subject to the same pay policies and practices of Defendants;
 - g. They were subject to the same delivery driver reimbursement policy that underestimates automobile expenses per mile, and thereby systematically deprived of reasonably approximate reimbursements, resulting in wages below the federal minimum wage in some or all workweeks;
 - h. They were reimbursed similar set amounts of automobile expenses per delivery;
- and,
- i. They were paid at or near the federal minimum wage before deducting unreimbursed business expenses.

37. Plaintiff brings Count II and Count III as a class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, on behalf of himself and as the Class Representatives of the following persons (the “Class”):

All current and former delivery drivers employed by Defendants since the date three years preceding the filing of this Complaint.

38. The state law claims, if certified for class-wide treatment, are brought on behalf of all similarly situated persons who do not opt-out of the Class.

39. The Class satisfies the numerosity standard as it consists of hundreds of persons who are geographically dispersed and, therefore, joinder of all Class members in a single action is impracticable.

40. Questions of fact and law common to the Class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The questions of law and fact common to the Class arising from Defendants’ actions include, without limitation:

- a. Whether Defendants failed to pay Class members the minimum wage required by Pennsylvania law,
- b. Whether Defendants failed to reasonably reimburse Class members for using their own vehicles to deliver Defendants' pizzas and other food items,

c. Whether Defendants' formula and / or methodology used to calculate the payment of reimbursement for vehicle expenses resulted in unreasonable under-reimbursement of the Class members, and

d. Whether Defendants failed to keep accurate records of deductions from Class members' wages in violation of Federal and Pennsylvania law.

41. The questions set forth above predominate over any questions affecting only individual persons, and a class action is superior with respect to considerations of consistency, economy, efficiency, fairness, and equity to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the state law claims.

42. Plaintiff's claim is typical of those of the Class in that:

a. Plaintiff and the Class have worked as delivery drivers for Defendants delivering pizza and other food items to Defendants' customers;

b. Plaintiff and the Class delivered pizza and food items using automobiles not owned or maintained by Defendants;

c. Defendants required Plaintiff and the Class to maintain these automobiles in a safe, legally-operable, and insured condition;

d. Plaintiff and the Class incurred costs for automobile expenses while delivering pizzas and food items for the primary benefit of Defendants;

e. Plaintiff and the Class were subject to similar driving conditions, automobile expenses, delivery distances, and delivery frequencies;

f. Plaintiff and the Class were subject to the same pay policies and practices of Defendants;

g. Plaintiff and the Class were subject to the same delivery driver reimbursement policy that underestimates automobile expenses per mile, and thereby systematically deprived of reasonably approximate reimbursements, resulting in wages below the federal minimum wage in some or all workweeks;

h. Plaintiff and the Class were reimbursed similar set amounts of automobile expenses per delivery; and

i. Plaintiff and the Class were paid at or near the Federal minimum wage before deducting unreimbursed business expenses.

43. A class action is the appropriate method for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the Class.

44. Plaintiff is an adequate representative of the Class because he is a member of the Class and his interests do not conflict with the interest of the members of the Class he seeks to represent. The interests of the members of the Class will be fairly and adequately protected by Plaintiff and the undersigned counsel, who have extensive experience prosecuting complex wage and hour, employment, and class action litigation.

45. Maintenance of this action as a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently adjudicating the controversy as members of the Class have little interest in individually controlling the prosecution of separate class actions, no other litigation is pending over the same controversy, it is desirable to concentrate the litigation in this Court due to the relatively small recoveries per member of the Class, and there are no material difficulties impairing the management of a class action.

46. It would be impracticable and undesirable for each member of the Class who suffered harm to bring a separate action. In addition, the maintenance of separate actions would place a substantial and unnecessary burden on the courts and could result in inconsistent adjudications, while a single class action can determine, with judicial economy, the rights of all Class members.

Count I: Violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938

47. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth above.

48. The FLSA regulates, among other things, the payment of minimum wage by employers whose employees are engaged in interstate commerce, or engaged in the production of goods for commerce, or employed in an enterprise engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce. 29 U.S.C. §206(a).

49. Defendant JVP, Inc. is subject to the FLSA's minimum wage requirements because it is an enterprise engaged in interstate commerce, and its employees are engaged in commerce.

50. At all relevant times herein, Plaintiff and all other similarly situated delivery drivers have been entitled to the rights, protections, and benefits provided under the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 201, et seq.

51. Section 13 of the FLSA, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 213, exempts certain categories of employees from federal minimum wage obligations. None of the FLSA exemptions apply to Plaintiff or other similarly situated delivery drivers.

52. Under Section 6 of the FLSA, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 206, employees have been entitled to be compensated at a rate of at least $7.25 per hour since July 24, 2009.

53. As alleged herein, Defendants have reimbursed delivery drivers less than the reasonably approximate amount of their automobile expenses to such an extent that it diminishes these employees' wages beneath the federal minimum wage.

54. Defendants knew or should have known that their pay and reimbursement policies, practices and methodology result in failure to compensate delivery drivers at the federal minimum wage.

55. Defendants, pursuant to their policy and practice, violated the FLSA by refusing and failing to pay federal minimum wage to Plaintiff and other similarly situated employees.

56. Plaintiff and all similarly situated delivery drivers are victims of a uniform and employer-based compensation and reimbursement policy. This uniform policy, in violation of the FLSA, has been applied, and continues to be applied, to all delivery driver employees in Defendants' stores.

57. Plaintiff and all similarly situated employees are entitled to damages equal to the minimum wage minus actual wages received after deducting reasonably approximated automobile expenses within three years from the date each Plaintiff joins this case, plus periods of equitable tolling, because Defendants acted willfully and knew, or showed reckless disregard for, whether its conduct was unlawful.

58. Defendants have acted neither in good faith nor with reasonable grounds to believe that its actions and omissions were not a violation of the FLSA, and as a result, Plaintiff and other similarly situated employees are entitled to recover an award of liquidated damages in an amount equal to the amount of unpaid minimum wages under 29 U.S.C. § 216(b). Alternatively, should the Court find Defendants is not liable for liquidated damages, Plaintiff and all similarly situated employees are entitled to an award of prejudgment interest at the applicable legal rate.

59. As a result of the aforesaid willful violations of the FLSA's minimum wage provisions, minimum wage compensation has been unlawfully withheld by Defendants from Plaintiff and all similarly situated employees. Accordingly, Defendants are liable under 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), together with an additional amount as liquidated damages, pre-judgment and post-judgment interest, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of this action.

Count II: Violations of the Pennsylvania Wage Payment and Collection Law

60. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth above.

61. At all relevant times, Defendants have been and continue to be an "employer" within the meaning of the Pennsylvania Annotated Statute §260.2.

62. At all relevant times, Defendants have employed, and continues to employ, "employees", including Plaintiff, within the meaning of the Pennsylvania Annotated Statute §260.2.

63. Plaintiff was an employee of Defendants within the meaning of the Pennsylvania Annotated Statute §260.1, et seq.

64. Pursuant to the Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.2 et seq., the Defendants were required to pay Plaintiffs and the putative Class members all wages, when due, for all hours of work at hourly rates which exceeded the minimum wage rate under the FLSA on their regular pay date.

65. Defendants were required to provide employees with advanced notice for wage deductions permissible by and in compliance with the Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.1, et seq.

66. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the putative Class members reimbursements for travel expenses under the Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.1, et seq., and thus failed to comply with this statute and its accompanying administrative code.

67. The foregoing conduct, as alleged, constitutes willful violations of Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.1, et seq

68. As set forth above, the Plaintiff and the putative Class members have sustained losses and lost compensation as a proximate result of Defendants' violations. Accordingly, Plaintiff on behalf of himself and the putative Class members, seek damages in the amount of their unpaid earned compensation, liquidated damages, plus interest at the legal rate set forth in Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.1, et seq.

69. As a result of the foregoing conduct, as alleged, Defendants have failed to pay wages due under the Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.1, et seq. and the FLSA.

70. Plaintiff, on behalf of himself and the putative Class members, seek recovery of his attorneys' fees as provided by the Pennsylvania Annotated Statutes §260.9, et seq.

Count III: Unjust Enrichment/Quantum Meruit

71. Plaintiff reasserts and re-alleges the allegations set forth above.

72. Plaintiff conferred a benefit upon Defendants by working on their behalf without compensation.

73. Defendants had an appreciation or knowledge of the benefit conferred by Plaintiff.

74. Defendants accepted and retained the benefit under such circumstances as to make it inequitable for Defendants to retain the benefit without payment of its value.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff and the Class demand judgment against Defendants and pray for: (1) compensatory damages; (2) liquidated damages, (3) costs of litigation and attorney's fees as provided by law; (4) pre-judgment and post-judgment interest as provided by law; and (5) such other relief as the Court deems fair and equitable.

Demand for Jury Trial

Plaintiff hereby requests a trial by jury of all issues triable by jury.
